PREVENTING SEXUAL MISCONDUCT

Q. What is being done to prevent sexual misconduct in the Church?

A. Every effort is being made to assure that all persons ministering (working and volunteering) in the Diocese of Orange are aware of and will abide by the policies prohibiting sexual misconduct and of the procedures for dealing with incidents of sexual misconduct.

In addition to background checks, all school and religious education personnel are screened for their suitability to work safely with children and, are provided information to help recognize and deal with issues of child sexual abuse, and are given guidance and instruction on appropriate professional conduct with students. All seminarians and candidates for the diaconate undergo extensive evaluation, psychological assessment and background checks before entering formation. After ordination, priests and deacons receive ongoing training on maintaining the integrity of the ministerial relationship. Every person has the right to be respected and treated with the dignity befitting a child of God. Every person is owed the respect of appropriate boundaries. Every person has the right to challenge offensive and inappropriate behavior and comments. It is the responsibility of everyone to protect the safety of children, families, vulnerable persons, women and men, and to promote healing of injury with justice and mercy toward all.

B. A yearly audit is conducted by the National Office of Child and Youth Protection to ensure compliance with the “Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People” adopted by the Bishops of the United States in 2002.

C. The Office of Child and Youth Protection was established to ensure yearly, age-appropriate abuse prevention education for children from Kindergarten through High School in both our private schools and our religious education programs. There are also teacher, volunteer and parent components for each age group. Safe Environment contacts have been named in every parish to oversee compliance with the diocesan mandate for personal safety education for our children.

Questions or concerns can be addressed to the Director of the Office of Child and Youth Protection at 714-282-3125.

Diocese of Orange
Revised April 2014
Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

God gifted humans with gender and sexuality, making us male and female and saw that this was good. The Bible teaches that any good gift from God can become twisted or corrupted and may cause injury and offend human dignity.

Together we are called to minister to all of God's people and show special tenderness and care for those who are vulnerable. We as the Church strive to create worship, educational and work environment where all persons treat each other with dignity, charity and respect.

Sexual misconduct by clergy, church personnel, church leaders and volunteers is contrary to Christian morals, doctrine and canon law. When minors are involved it is also illegal. It is never acceptable. We recognize that sexual misconduct may have devastating consequences for the victims and their families, for the Church community, and for the transgressor. While this subject is troubling to all of us, basic information about sexual misconduct in the ministerial setting is needed in order to protect the vulnerable and assure integrity in these relationships.

The Diocese makes this pamphlet available to all employees, teachers, lay and ordained parish ministers, parents and parishioners at large as part of its effort to ensure the integrity of its ministries. It also endeavors to explain how issues of sexual misconduct are addressed within our Church and to give information on where to seek assistance and how to respond most effectively in situations where sexual misconduct has occurred. With the wisdom that comes from the Spirit, let us work together to respect ministerial boundaries and keep ministerial relationships healthy and holy.

Yours in Christ Our Savior, Most Reverend Kevin Vann Bishop of Orange

DEFINING THE PROBLEM:

Sexual Misconduct in the Ministerial Relationship

Q. What constitutes a “ministerial relationship”?

A. This is a relationship in which a person is receiving pastoral care from a church leader. Whenever a person begins a relationship with any person in his or her capacity as a church official or leader, a ministerial relationship is created. This applies to:

- Clergy (bishops, priests, deacons);
- Members of religious communities (priests, brothers, sisters);
- Lay ministers, lay pastoral associates, youth ministers and liturgical ministers;
- Spiritual directors and pastoral counselors;
- School personnel;
- Seminary faculty, staff and administrators; and
- Religious education teachers, church camp counselors and choir directors.

THE NATURE OF SEXUAL MISCONDUCT

Sexual misconduct is any form of sexual conduct that is unlawful; that is contrary to the moral instructions, doctrines, and canon law of the Catholic Church; and that causes injury to another. It may constitute sexual abuse, sexual harassment or sexual exploitation.

More specifically:

Q. What is sexual misconduct in the ministerial relationship?

A. Sexual misconduct in the ministerial relationship is sexualized contact or sexualized behavior by a person in a ministerial or pastoral role directed at a parishioner, employee, student, spiritual director, counseling client, or anyone who has sought the Church’s ministry.

Q. What is sexual harassment?

A. Sexual harassment includes verbal, physical or visual conduct that creates an intimidating, offensive or hostile work environment or that unreasonably interferes with job performance. Additionally, sexual harassment includes any request or demand for sexual favors that is implicitly or expressly a condition of employment or continued employment. Some examples of sexual harassment include sexual advances or suggestions; unwelcome sexually oriented remarks; dirty jokes; the display or distribution of offensive photographs, posters or cartoons; and any unwelcome, intentional touching of the intimate areas of another person’s body.

Q. What is sexual exploitation?

A. Sexual exploitation is sexual contact between a church representative and a person who is receiving pastoral care from the church leader.

Q. What is sexual abuse?

A. Sexual abuse is sexual contact between a church representative and a person who is a “dependent adult” as defined by law. Either sexual exploitation or sexual abuse can include physical contact from the church leader or representative such as:

- Sexual touch or other intrusive touching (i.e. tickling, wrestling, or other physical contact) that causes uneasiness or discomfort
- Inappropriate gift (such as lingerie).
- A prolonged hug when a brief hug is customary behavior.
- Kissing on the lips when a kiss on the cheek would be appropriate.
- Showing sexually suggestive objects or pornography.
- Sexual intercourse, anal or oral sex.

Sexual exploitation or sexual abuse can also include verbal behavior such as:

- Insults;
- Sexual comments;
- Tales of sexual exploits or
- Making sexual proposals.

Q. What if the victim did not stop the sexual contact when it began or what if the victim initiated it?

A. It is a common dynamic in ministry for some to feel attracted to those in church leadership positions, or to feel flattered by his or her attention. This never excuses any form of sexual misconduct. Clergy or other church leaders who engage in any form of sexual misconduct are violating the ministerial relationship, misusing their authority and power, and are taking advantage of the vulnerability of those who are seeking spiritual guidance.

Because of the respect and even reverence with which many people view the Church’s ministers, there is always an imbalance of power and hence a vulnerability inherent in the ministerial relationship. By definition, therefore, there is an absence of meaningful consent to any activity, even if the person is an adult. Because of this imbalance of power, conduct inappropriate to the ministerial relationship is never okay. It is always the responsibility of the Church leader to maintain the appropriate emotional and sexual boundaries of those they serve and those with whom they work.

Q. What is the impact of ministerial sexual misconduct on its victims?

A. Victims of ministerial sexual misconduct frequently feel deep shame or self-condemnation. They may fear not being believed or fear being blamed by Church officials or members. Many times they desire to protect the abuser or the Church from scandal, or may not even realize that the way they were treated was abusive. Sadly, victims can experience a crisis of faith and even leave the Church altogether.
