Steps taken to address sexual abuse of minors

List of credibly accused priests incardinated in the Diocese of Orange

The steps we have taken

The Catholic Church and the Diocese of Orange are deeply committed and remain vigilant in protecting and caring for children, our most cherished resource. The Church has worked hard to protect children and to ensure their safety. Back in 2002, the Diocese of Orange implemented a comprehensive approach to ensure that children and teens are as safe as possible. The Diocese employs a comprehensive background screening for all adults likely to be in contact with children, including background checks and fingerprinting.

Moreover, it is important to note the following facts:

• The Diocese of Orange cooperates fully with law enforcement and appropriate agencies in reporting alleged incidents of sexual abuse of minors.
• Since 2003, the Diocese has had an Oversight Review Board to whom allegations are presented and evaluated. The board makes recommendations to the Diocesan Bishop in regards on how to proceed in individual cases.
• Every member of the clergy and all diocesan employees have read and signed the diocesan policy on sexual misconduct.
• Before any man is accepted as a seminarian, he must be deemed fit, having undergone extensive psychological testing.
  o Criminal background checks are conducted on all prospective seminarians, priests or religious members of the clergy.
  o A telephone reporting line has been in operation for fifteen years and continues to operate with call response as immediate as possible.

Current statistics

The Diocese of Orange performed background screenings on the following:

Screened to date since 2002
• Adults (lay people): 99,235
Screened and serving in various ministries from July 1, 2018 to June 30, 2019

- Priests in active ministry: 255
- Deacons: 131
- Candidates for Ordination, Seminarians and Diaconate - 65
- Educators 2,194
- School and parish employees and volunteers: 20,961

We believe one key to preventing child abuse is education and awareness. In 2018-2019 in the Diocese of Orange, 65,714 children participated in awareness programs.
